

Yanks Tie Series With 12-0 Win Over Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chunky Whitey Ford squared the World Series with his second straight shutout of Pittsburgh Wednesday, 12-0, while Bobby Richardson and his New York Yankee mates scrambled the record book during a 17-hit romp in the sixth game. The left-handed ace of Manager Casey Stengel's staff joined ex-Yankees Red Ruffing and Allie Reynolds as the winners of the most Series games, seven, as he sent this Series into a seventh game Thursday.

Two Heroes
Ford, working Wednesday with three days rest, blanked the National League champions, 10-0, in the third game Saturday. Richardson became the runs batted in champion of all Series history. The YMCA secretary from Sumter, S.C., boosted his total to 12 RBI, by knocking in three with a pair of triples.

The stunned crowd of 38,580 fans, many of whom had watched the Pirates absorb a 16-3 pasting in their last appearance here last Thursday, wondered if they should believe what they read about the Bucs' success in the big city last weekend where they won two of three.

When the computing staff finished, they found the Yanks already had scored more runs, 46, and collected more hits, 78, than any other Series team. And they still have one more game to go Thursday at Forbes Field, where they will face Vern Law, the Pirates' 20-game winner. Law already has beaten them twice with help from little Elroy Face.

Stengel said he would start either Bill Stafford, 22-year-old rookie who pitched five scoreless innings in relief Monday, or Bob Turley, big right-hander who won that 16-3 second game last week.

Topped 11-0 Shutout
This was the most lopsided shutout in the long history of Series competition, topping the 11-0 romp by the Chicago White Sox over Los Angeles in the first game last October and the St. Louis Cardinals against Detroit in the last game in 1934.

Once again it happened quickly with one big inning—five runs in the third — when the aroused Yanks knocked out Bob Friend. Manager Danny Murtaugh kept Law and Face out of this heavy shelling, waiting for Thursday's payoff game, while he followed Junior Ponder with Tom Green, Vinegar Bend Mizell, Fred Green, Clem Labine and George Witt.

For the first time in this Series, the Yanks failed to hit a home run. Included in their 17 hits were three triples, two by Richardson, and four doubles, two by reserve catcher Johnny Blanchard. Roger Maris contributed two singles and a double and Yogi Berra three singles. Blanchard also got a single.

Ford Hits Single
Pittsburgh was out of this game as early as the third. The Yanks had pushed over a run on Ford's scratch single off Friend's glove with the bases loaded in the second.

Friend hit Tony Kubek on the foot opening the third and Maris started Friend toward his second defeat when he doubled off the right field screen, a smash that would have been a home run in Yankee Stadium. Mickey Mantle ripped a single into center scoring both Kubek and Maris.

Cheney, a young right-hander, took over the burden of trying to stop the sizzling Yankee bats. Bill Skowron's sacrifice fly knocked in Mantle. After Blanchard singled to center, Richardson broke the RBI record with his two-run triple off the distant scoreboard in left field.

With a 6-0 lead Ford was just breezing along the rest of the way.

Cuba Orders Execution Of American
HAVANA (AP) — A military tribunal Wednesday night ordered death before a firing squad for a Bostonian and seven Cubans in a rebel expeditionary force that landed on the northeast coast last week.

If appeals are turned down, Anthony Zarba, 27, of Boston and the others will die before a firing squad Thursday morning at Santiago in eastern Cuba where they were tried.

At Santa Clara, in mid-Cuba, a defendant from New York City faced a lesser penalty if convicted in a military court mass trial of 174 other accused counter-revolutionaries.

The prosecution at Santa Clara demanded death for six leaders in the big group but asked only a 5- to 30-year prison sentence for the New Yorker, Richard Pecoraro of Staten Island.

At Santiago, Zarba admitted taking part in the expedition into eastern Cuba, said he tried to pull out at the last moment, and was sorry for what he had done.

At Santa Clara, the Cuban press said Pecoraro insisted he came to Cuba simply to see what was going on.

Pecoraro was swept up in a roundup of suspected counter-revolutionaries.

Except for four Russians, all foreign newsmen were barred from the Santa Clara courtroom. The newspaper El Mundo gave a few details of Pecoraro's testimony.

Congo Threatens Break With U.N.
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congo's young leaders threatened to break relations with the United Nations Wednesday because the world body still refuses to turn over deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Few observers dared guess what would happen next in the stalemate. Hostility toward whites increased and relations between the provisional Congo government and the United Nations grew worse by the hour.

The College of Technical Commissioners, appointed by army chief Col. Joseph Mobutu to run the government, threatened to halt U.N. broadcasts over Leopoldville radio.

Bushkill 'JP' Confirmed
THE STATE Senate last night unanimously confirmed Gov. David L. Lawrence's appointment of Stanley J. Schovel, of Bushkill as justice of the peace for Lehman Township, Pike County.

CUTTING DOWN THE BUCS—Bill Virdon of the Pirates is forced at second as Yankee shortstop Tony Kubek whirled to throw to first to complete a double play in first inning of sixth World Series game at Forbes Field. Nixon, Kennedy Won't Budge On Quemoy, Matsu

THE PRESIDENTIAL campaign centered Wednesday on one issue: Should the United States commit itself to protect the far-away islands of Quemoy and Matsu from Communist capture? John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, was busy in New York defending his view that to base the U.S. defense line in the Far East on those two islets might suck this country into a war without the support of world opinion.

He reiterated that the tiny islands off the Chinese mainland, unlike Formosa, are regarded as strategically indefensible by the nation's "finest military minds."

Would Inspire Reds
Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee, has been hitting hard at the theme that not one inch of free territory should be handed over to the Communists. The vice president said that to yield Quemoy and Matsu would only whet the appetite of the Chinese Reds for the Nationalist island of Formosa.

It was a relatively calm day for Nixon, moving into his native California. But he was far from idle. He taped TV talks for later broadcast, campaigned in folksy fashion at picnics in suburban Los Angeles and worked on Thursday night's third TV-radio debate with Kennedy.

But Nixon's advisers let it be known they feel their candidate has hit on a politically rich issue in Quemoy and Matsu and will keep hammering at it.

The question was raised during last week's nationally broadcast debate between Kennedy and Nixon. It seems certain to be raised again in Thursday night's show—alongside another foreign policy question: Has America's prestige abroad been shrinking? Nixon says no. Kennedy says yes.

Debate Uncertain
The third Kennedy-Nixon debate won't be exactly face-to-face, the format of the first two. They'll appear on a split screen—Nixon from Los Angeles, Kennedy from New York.

Meanwhile, Kennedy and Nixon continued not to see exactly eye-to-eye on expansion of the TV-radio debates. Kennedy has agreed to a suggestion that a fifth be added to the four debates scheduled. But Nixon suggested that this time be handed over to the vice-presidential candidates and that the fourth between the presidential candidates be expanded from one to two hours.

Kennedy said the two-hour debate is all right with him, but he hopes last-hour developments could be debated shortly before Election Day, Nov. 8.

The Democratic presidential candidate repeated his views on Quemoy and Matsu to newsmen who surrounded him in New York—first on a sidewalk and later in a hotel room.

In his third swing into New York State, Kennedy whirled around the metropolitan area in a bid for the state's 45 electoral votes, the nation's largest one-state chunk.

At a civil rights conference, Kennedy rebuked President Eisenhower without mentioning him by name. He said: "There is more to the presidency than to let things drift and then suddenly call out troops."

This was an obvious reference to Eisenhower's use of troops to quell mob resistance to the admission of Negro students at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., in 1957.

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — The ruling Conservative party Wednesday overwhelmingly supported Britain's independent nuclear deterrent and called for a stronger North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Novelist Reweds First Husband
NEW YORK (AP) — Grace Metalious, 35, author of the best-seller novel "Peyton Place," stopped over here Wednesday and disclosed that she had remarried her first husband.

The plumpish writer of novels with a strong sex theme was divorced in Tacoma, N.H., last Friday from disc jockey T. J. Martin, 35, after two years of marriage.

She and her first husband, George Metalious, also 35, were remarried the following day in Elkton, Md., she said.

U.N. Session Ends In Disorder

Shoe-Waving Khru Sets Off Wild Display

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — An uproarious debate over colonialism exploded Wednesday night into an unprecedented table-thumping U.N. General Assembly session highlighted by Soviet Premier Khrushchev waving his shoe in the air.

It broke up in complete disorder when assembly President Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, angered over the wildest scene in the history of the United Nations, shattered his gavel in bringing the session to an end.

Khrushchev staged one of his most bewildering displays, amazing the assembly by calling a fellow delegate a jerk and a stooge, and at one point banging the desk with his shoe.

The final explosion came after a Romanian delegate accused the assembly president of being unfair toward the Soviet bloc.

The stunned delegates found the meeting over before they realized what was happening.

Informed sources said the United States was on the point of agreeing to full assembly debate on the colonial issue—as demanded by Khrushchev—when the Communists' behavior caused Boland to end the session for Wednesday night.

The adjournment, in a scene of unprecedented disorder, came as the delegates were nearing a vote on a Soviet resolution to give a full independence for all colonies. It might have been the first successful purely Soviet resolution in U.N. history.

The gavel fell apart from the strength of Boland's blows as he rapped for attention to announce: "Because of the scene you have just witnessed, I think the assembly had better adjourn."

Premier Khrushchev began the tumultuous proceedings with one of his most amazing shows. At one point he even had his shoe in his hand, ready to bang his desk with it in protest.

At another he called a delegate from the Philippines the Soviet equivalent of "jerk."

Sought To Reply
The final uproar in an afternoon of uproars caught U.S. Delegate Francis O. Wilcox on his feet, attempting to reply to Soviet and Communist-bloc tirades.

Wilcox was supporting the view of the Philippines delegate—whose statement had sparked the riotous proceedings—that the Soviet Union dominates Eastern Europe.

The angry U.N. president got a five-minute ovation from the delegates.

Back at his delegation headquarters on Park Avenue, Khrushchev sought to dismiss the whole affair as humorous.

"The main instrument of the president of the General Assembly broke. He rapped his gavel and it broke. How can he proceed without a gavel?"

Communist Colonies
Here is how the sudden adjournment came about: Wilcox had reached this point in his remarks: "Everyone here in this assembly is fully aware of the fact that there are a number of states in Eastern Europe which do not have their complete independence."

At this, the Romanian delegate, Eduard Mezincescu, protested. Boland asked Wilcox to stand aside while the Romanian replied. On the rostrum, the Romanian made a remark about Ireland and its former colonial status under England.

The byplay was not on the sound system, and many could not understand the drama going on in the assembly.

Boland had no comment on the uproar, but an associate said he adjourned the meeting because of the behavior of the Romanian delegate, the banging of the rostrum by the Romanian, and a "reference to the chair."

The Romanian delegate apparently made a remark indicating he believed Boland was partial to the non-Communists.

Many delegates expressed shock.

Bomb Below Times Square Injures 27

NEW YORK (AP) — A holiday explosion in New York's busiest subway terminal, beneath Times Square, injured at least 27 persons Wednesday. It was caused by a homemade bomb, the third planted within a two-block midtown radius in 11 days.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy withheld for several hours an official explanation of the blast, although his experts from the beginning termed it a bomb. He finally announced an explosive force apparently had been hidden behind a do-it-yourself photo snapshot machine in the subway station.

Even as the pungent, pervading odor of the explosive still hung in the labyrinth of underground subway arcades, Kennedy ordered a force of special plainclothesmen into key areas that might be future bomb targets.

A gush of black smoke and a wave of momentary panic rolled across the subway terminal together as the explosion went off at 3:25 p.m.—a merciful margin of two hours in advance of the evening rush. Women screamed as they were knocked down by the blast.

Of the injured, one was reported in serious condition. He was the conductor of a Times Square shuttle train that was unloading near the blast center. Its passengers bore the brunt of the explosive shock.

Transit Authority Inspector Patrick J. Coughlin, 49, told police he saw two young men with blackened faces running from the scene and overheard one of them say: "We got too close. I lost my hat."

Coughlin said the other replied: "I lost my hat, too."

Youths Flee
The common denominator in both previous bomb explosions has been eyewitness reports of a pair of youths fleeing the scene.

The first, Sunday Oct. 2, injured seven persons above ground in Times Square. The second occurred last Sunday two blocks away outside the Public Library at 42nd St. and Fifth Ave. It caused no injuries.

The latest blast was centered near the eastern end of the vast complex of subway tunnels that converge beneath Times Square. Directly above it is Manhattan's crossroads, the intersection of Broadway and 42nd Street.

Crashed Flier Still Missing

HONOLULU (AP) — Lt. Duane Sterling, 27, Fargo, N. D., flier crashed at sea in his single-engine plane near Wake Island Wednesday night, 4,400 miles along on an attempt to fly 7,608 miles nonstop from Oakland, Calif., to Manila.

Many hours later, he was reported still missing with rough seas and rain showers hampering a daylight search by planes and ships.

Sterling's little Mooney Mark 20 was unable to gain altitude when he was within 14 miles of Wake, flying alongside Capt. Charles Finnegan, 30, also of Fargo, in another Mark 20. Sterling went down into the Pacific three miles short of Wake at 9:24 p.m. Wednesday, Wake time.

ASSASSINATION AT TOKYO RALLY — Japanese Socialist Party chairman Inejiro Asanuma holds chest from first wound as his assailant whirled to thrust 12-inch Japanese Samurai sword for second time during political rally in Tokyo. Japan Fears Terrorism May Follow Assassination

TOKYO (AP) — The assassination of the Socialist party chairman, Inejiro Asanuma, raised fears in this shocked nation Thursday that ultranationalist terrorism may again become a force in Japanese political life. The anti-American politician was stabbed to death Wednesday by a fanatic right-wing student.

The assassin, Otake Yamaguchi, 17, attacked Asanuma as he addressed a political meeting, stabbing him in the chest twice with a samurai sword.

Asanuma, an outspoken friend of Red China and militant foe of the U.S.-Japan military alliance, died en route to a hospital. The youth, overpowered on the spot, later told police he considered the Socialist leader a traitor trying to sell out Japan to the Communists.

The government ordered an immediate crackdown on suspected terrorist organizations after 10,000 union members and leftist university students marched on police headquarters and the official residence of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda.

About 500 of the marchers, hurling rocks at police, tried to break through the lines of guards. They were scattered without any serious violence.

The remainder of the crowd stood quietly and broke up after government officials promised to move swiftly to stamp out terrorism.

Police staged a series of raids Wednesday night, including one on the headquarters of the Nazi-style Japan Patriotic Society. Yamaguchi had been a member of the organization until last May.

Asanuma's murder, the first involving a major Japanese political figure in 24 years, recalled the bloody era of "government by assassination" that raised military lists to power before World War II.

It was the third political stabbing by a right-wing fanatic in four months. The other victims, Socialist party official Jotaro Kawakami and the then Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, both survived. They were attacked during the outbreak of leftist riots last June and July against the new U.S.-Japan security pact.

The death of Asanuma, 62, left the Socialist party temporarily leaderless at the beginning of a national election campaign that reaches a climax next month. But it gave the party's left wing a martyr and could help the Socialists reduce the Conservatives' strong parliamentary majority.

Mounting fear of the ultranationalist terrorist tactics also is becoming a major factor in political life and may help to swing votes to the Socialists.

TWO AREA students have enrolled at Washington Missionary College, Takoma Park, Maryland.

They are Frank Foulkes, a freshman and son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foulkes, of Stroudsburg and Janet Anewalt, a senior at the Seventh-day Adventist College. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jack Smith, of Saylorsburg.

Miss Anewalt is a graduate of Blue Mountain Academy, Hamburg, Pa. She is majoring in nursing.

Foulkes, who was graduated from Stroud Union High School, is majoring in Agriculture.

The college serves primarily the states of the middle-eastern United States. It was formed in 1904.

Delaware Water Gap

TWO buildings on Main St. have been much improved in appearance recently. Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Davis have had the former bakery-meat market building at the corner of Cherry Valley St. aluminum weather-boarded and painted white with pink paneling. Ben Geshensky has had the third story of his home, two doors above the post office, removed. Now he is taking away the two story porch that extended the whole length of the front. He will have, in its place, a patio, partly roofed.

The pupils of the Methodist Sunday School felt they had an outstanding treat Sunday when the session was turned over to Mrs. Elsie Keiper of East Stroudsburg who gave a flannel-graph talk about Joash, the boy king.

Friends have received word of the death of Mrs. Barbara Lamb, of Newark, N.J. Mrs. Lamb was for some years the baker at Hotel Glenwood and had many friends here. She was 87 years old and had been in ill health for a year. She made her home with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lamb. Five Stroud Union Seniors Cited For Academic Work

FIVE SENIORS at Stroud Union High School have been honored for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) given last spring.

Each student received a formal letter of commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Alfred Munson, the school's principal, has announced that the following students were commended:

Maryann Benson, daughter of Mrs. H. Herdman, of 607 Avenue B; Barbara Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, of 451 N. 8th St.; Michael McMahon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McMahon, of 1647 Wallace St.; David Miller, son of Harold L. Miller, of 36 Club Court; all of Stroudsburg and Beverly Wiest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Wiest, of East Stroudsburg, RD 3.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the NMQST stated that "while these youngsters did not reach the status of semi-finalists in the 1960-61 program, they are so outstanding that we wish to single them out for special attention."

"The semi-finalists and commended students together constitute less than three percent of all high school seniors, and this certainly signifies noteworthy achievement," Stalnaker said.

Semi-finalists

Two semi-finalists, Charles Eyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Price, of 910 W. Main St., Stroudsburg and Mary Lillis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lillis, of Cresco, will represent Stroud Union High School during the December final exams.

The semi-finalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories. Some 10,000 semi-finalists will take a second examination in December to establish further their eligibility to receive Merit Scholarships.

The commended students were among the high school juniors in more than 15,000 schools who took the NMQST last spring. The test was a three-hour examination which covered five separate areas of educational development. It was the first step in the sixth annual Merit Program. This year's program will conclude about May 1, 1961 with the naming of students who will receive four-year Merit Scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

Unemployment Rises In State

HARRISBURG (AP) — Unemployment in Pennsylvania rose by 8,000 workers last month, going against the normal trend of higher employment for this time of year, the Labor and Industry Department reported yesterday.

Secretary William L. Batt Jr. said the number of jobless persons in mid-September was estimated at 343,000, or 7.4 per cent of the total work force. The national unemployment average in August was 5.3 per cent.

The current unemployment figure is higher than the September 1959 total of 334,000, or 7.1 per cent of the labor force.

Batt said a slowdown in the primary metals industry was principally responsible for swelling the unemployment figures.

As of mid-September, he said, steel mills were still operating under 50 per cent of capacity with little expectation of improvement in the near future.

Layoffs in bituminous mining, which is influenced largely by steel operations, and temporary layoffs in stone, clay and glass and apparel also contributed to the unemployment rise, Batt said.

Dickson Man Dies Of Injuries

LIBERTY, N. Y. (AP)—Donald Genovesi, 23, Dickson City, Pa., died yesterday of injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding collided with two others.

Police said his car came around a curve on Route 52 Monday night and struck two others going in the opposite direction. Genovesi was employed at Grossinger's, a resort. A companion was injured critically.

BOSTON (AP) — Joseph O'Keefe is unable to get a chauffeur's job, because he can't get his Massachusetts driver's license back.

O'Keefe was the man whose testimony—for the state — sent eight of his former pals to prison for the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery, in which O'Keefe, too, participated.

The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles said yesterday that O'Keefe's request for reinstatement of his license was turned down after his release from jail several months ago.

Tighter Laws Needed

A number of states are taking an increasingly dim view of the drinking driver. New York is the most recent of these.

A law which went into effect there last Saturday increases the maximum penalties for the first conviction of driving while intoxicated from $100 and 30 days in jail to $500 and one year in jail.

At the same time, the statute makes it a traffic infraction to drive an automobile while under the influence of alcohol. Conviction will result in mandatory suspension of driving privileges for 60 days.

The New York law has sharp teeth. Under it, ability to drive would be considered impaired when chemical tests show the blood - alcohol level of the driver to be between .10 and .15 per cent. Any level above .15 would subject the driver to a drunken driving charge.

More and more, state legislatures are authorizing the use of chemical tests to determine alcohol levels. The reason is found in our traffic accident statistics.

The National Safety Council estimates that drinking drivers were involved in 10,000 of the 32,000 fatal traffic accidents last year. The Federal Bureau of Investigation recently reported that 1,800 cities—population total: 56-million—had 109,600 arrests for drunken driving in 1959.

Most frightening of all, however, was the 9.7 per cent increase in arrests of persons under 18 years of age for this offense.

It's easy to understand, therefore, why tighter laws are needed.

A 'Colony' Answers Mr. K.

Nikita Khrushchev has established some kind of record for hypocrisy in his current oratory on colonialism—painting the Soviet Union as completely on the side of the angels and the United States and the Western nations as the unadulterated scoundrels.

One of his most glaring oratorical lies has been the picture he has painted of the United States imposing its "imperialist" will on the Puerto Ricans.

Puerto Rico now enjoys a commonwealth status that gives it favored economic treatment in the United States without federal taxes. One major Puerto Rican political bloc argues for the benefits of this status quo, as opposed to another one which wants to seek statehood with its representation in Congress—and its federal taxes. Only a very minute group of Puerto Ricans now argues for independence. The Nationalist Party has all but disappeared as a political force in the Puerto Rican legislature.

No one more clearly answered the Khrushchev diatribe on this front than Puerto Rico's Gov. Munoz Marin. This is what he said:

"The people of Puerto Rico are self-governing people freely associated with the United States of America on the basis of mutual consent and respect. The policies regarding the cultural and economic development of Puerto Rico are in the hands of the people of Puerto Rico themselves for them to determine according to their best interests."

The Puerto Ricans elect their own assemblymen in free elections. They are not harassed or threatened by American soldiers.

And they have the standing offer of President Eisenhower, made in his first year in the White House and reiterated since, that any time the Puerto Rican National Assembly formally petitions for independence he will be its advocate and staunch supporter.

Let it not go unnoticed in this era of Communist colonialism that Nikita Khrushchev never has made a similar offer to any of the unhappy nations behind the Iron Curtain. Instead the exact opposite prevails. Mr. Khrushchev and the Communists gave an unmistakable answer to those who want to run their own government and country just four years ago when Russian tanks and brute force overwhelmed the independence-seeking Hungarians.

—Harrisburg Patriot

George Sokolsky Says . . .

What Is The Cold War?

Khrushchev, it appears, lost the 1960 battle in the General Assembly of the United Nations.

That does not at all mean that he lost the Cold War. The nature of war has changed radically in recent years. When we think of war that arises in our memories is shot and shell, cities destroyed, human beings left homeless, blood and death on all sides.

Today war is continuous. It utilizes altogether new techniques, not only such as missiles, rockets, biological and chemical devices, but since one of the objects of wars, as Clausewitz, the greatest theoretician of war, has pointed out, is for one nation to impose its will upon another, technical methods have been devised to achieve this without shot and shell.

Clausewitz makes the point: "... War is an act of force, and to the application of that force there is no limit. Each of the adversaries forces the hand of the other, and a reciprocal claim results which in theory can have no limit. . . ."

But force is of many natures. For instance, the systematic destruction of the value of a people is a more subtle form of force than killing a division of men, but it nonetheless is an act of war.

Soviet Russia, which has adopted what has come to be called Aesopian language, uses the word peace to describe warlike acts which are of the new techniques that do not require shot and shell.

For instance, intellectual subversion, which is a method for changing the thought processes of generations, is a technique of war. Its object is to destroy the will to resist an enemy.

Karl von Clausewitz states that war is a political act. Even more, he found the law that war is a political act but that it is one that is carried out by other means, he said:

"... What now still remains peculiar to war relates merely to the peculiar character of the means it uses. The art of war in general and the commander in each particular case can demand that the tendencies and designs of policy shall be not incompatible with these means, and the claim is certainly no trifling one.

But however powerfully it may react on political designs in particular cases, still it must always be regarded as only a modification of them; for the political design is the object, while war is the means, and the means can never be thought of apart from the object."

Clausewitz has had an enormous influence upon Russian thinking and in the development of the Cold War, his classic on war has served them as a guide. For the Cold War is nothing more than war by wholly new methods and by old methods adapted to new times.

Khrushchev came to this session of the General Assembly of the United Nations not to discuss the China question or disarmament or the future of Dag Hammarskjöld but to fight a battle of the Cold War, as he did in Paris.

His immediate objective was to impress the small nations, particularly those of Africa and Asia, with the strength of Soviet Russia and the futility of the United States. He brought with him all his pro-consuls and added to them the mighty neutrals who live in fear of his power.

It was a very impressive performance which Khrushchev spoiled by his natural vulgarity. Nevertheless, the impression he made may be advantageous next year.

Khrushchev is more able in directing the Cold War than Stalin was. Stalin was a revolutionist who only understood direct and immediate action. Khrushchev is a product of a post-revolutionary era and his techniques are less sudden.

He is in no hurry. As he is conducting a war, he recognizes that it is unimportant to win a battle; it is only important to win the war. Success in war means the total destruction of an enemy's will to resist. Khrushchev understands that economic warfare can lead to more permanent destruction of the will to resist than a military battle.

In the present situation in the United States, for instance, gold is a superior weapon to a bomb; or if it is a bomb we think significant, the Congo is worth more than East Germany, for the Congo's minerals, particularly uranium, are invaluable.

It is necessary to recognize the nature of the Cold War to understand what is happening.

The Pennsylvania Story

Upstate Pull

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — This unquestionably is the rabbit-out-of-the-hat year if there ever was one, at least insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned.

How ever just who is destined to be the fortunate one to pull the much maligned, long-eared inhabitant of Penn's woods and fields from the political chapeau, is almost as much a mystery now as ever.

There is this much up though insofar as the Keystone State is concerned, with little more than three weeks remaining before the November 8 rabbit plucking deadline:

Pennsylvania Republicans are more optimistic than they have been at any time in the past half dozen weeks. They may be the registration underdog for the first time in their history in this state, but the feeling generally persists among top GOP leaders here in the State Capital that this by no means is assurance of their defeat.

To back up this jut-jawed contention they hark back to their contemporaries on the other side of the political fence — donkey riders of the Keystone State, who themselves emerged the victor in gubernatorial 1954 and 1958, notwithstanding the fact that Democrats were indeed the registration underdogs.

Unquestionably there is that indisputable "fickle factor"—the quirk of the individual voter — that always remains the great unknown and today is the deciding factor.

Republicans this year feel confident it will be this vote — regardless of party affiliation — that will help bumble them over the top, a rather curious aspect inasmuch as never before have they had to rely so greatly on non-registered Republicans!

In all of this, GOPsters are counting heavily of course on the presidential candidacy pull of Mr. Nixon, whom Pennsylvania Republican leaders very stoutly and firmly believe will be the swaying factor.

Interestingly, it is generally conceded among many pundits and observers around Capitol Hill that the Republican presidential candidate has indeed made serious inroads in Pennsylvania and that his chances are greater than a half-dozen weeks ago — but whether to the extent of overriding his opponent is something quite different.

In contrast, top Republican strategists feel shakily confident. In reality of course, the answer revolves mutely around the question of whether the hard core upstate Republican vote can produce sufficiently to override the expected heavy pull from downstate and heavily Democratic Philadelphia.

In the course of the current campaign there have been those who insist the runoff is not one of rural versus big city vote—and yet no matter how the November 8 tiff is viewed, it is difficult to see the contest in any other light!

The deciding factor unquestionably will be the strength of the upstate pull — whether it is sufficient to offset the big city Philadelphia pull!

What inroads can be made in the Philadelphia Democratic bloc — within the city itself — is another critically important factor. Most certainly on this score it is not the "influence" of the Republican Party as such that will have any decisive bearing; rather it is what Mr. Nixon as a candidate can do to dull the huge Democratic registration edge.

Unquestionably the well oiled Democratic machine in that city will play a tremendously important part — but fortunately for Republicans not all registered Democrats in the Quaker City are tied irrevocably to the Democratic machine! The rabbit is still in the hat.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Robert Zellner, the efficient hand director at East Stroudsburg High School, gained his master's degree at Lehigh University, over the weekend.

Zellner, a graduate of West Chester State College, served two years in the Army at Fort Jackson, S.C., and was with the Army Band.

His wife is the former Arlene Heckman, Zellner has two children, Gary, one, and Kathy, four.

Penning about band leaders, John Pyle, Stroud Union High Leader, was the subject of a story out of Mansfield State College.

The story actually deals with a Bertram W. Francis, associate professor of music at Mansfield.

It seems that Francis was instrumental in setting the pace for the trend, upping the size and growth of musical organizations in high schools.

Pyle, a former student of Francis', in high praise of his ex-teacher, remarked, "I was fortunate to be a Mansfield student when Francis arrived on campus."

"He brought with him a wealth of experience and practical knowledge."

"Twenty years ago, the high school band movement was in its infancy in the east," recalls Pyle.

"Francis brought with him a new and fresh approach; we all felt the impact immediately," he closed.

By the wonderful music that comes out of Stroud Union musicians and the effect on the listeners we imagine Pyle is carrying the ball in a touchdown way in the best tradition of Francis' teachings.

The Allen-Scott Report

Red Volunteers For Cuba

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Premier Castro is going to receive several thousand military "volunteers" from Communist bloc nations to bolster the sagging morale of his defection-ridden armed forces.

The pro-Red Cuban dictator arranged for this Communist expeditionary militia in his secret talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev at the UN

Advance units of these "volunteers," which are now being trained and equipped in Czechoslovakia, are scheduled to arrive in Havana before the end of November.

These ominous findings are contained in an FBI report that President Eisenhower and his chief foreign policy and defense advisers are now studying.

The document, based on information the FBI gathered on Castro's activities while in New York, was forwarded to the White House by Attorney General William Rogers.

The report reveals that the real purpose behind Ernesto (Che) Guevara's forthcoming visit to Moscow is to arrange for the payment and transportation of the "volunteers" from Czechoslovakia to Cuba.

Guevara, Cuban National Bank chief, leaves next week for the Soviet Union to take part in the celebration of Russia's October Revolution.

The FBI report says, however, that Guevara is using the observance as a cover for his real mission. Instead, he plans to seek an agreement under which the Kremlin would accept payment for the "volunteers" as part of a gigantic barter deal involving all sugar Cuba produces.

Such a deal would bind Cuba to dependence on Soviet economy even closer than the previous sugar and petroleum agreements negotiated by Soviet First Deputy Mikoyan.

The "volunteers" — Castro's urgent need for foreign troops is due to (1) the growing number of defections of army personnel, and (2) his own purges of Air Force and Navy personnel.

Having dismissed his top air force officers on two recent occasions — because he suspected disloyalty in that service — Castro now has few capable Cuban pilots and practically no competent personnel in the ground maintenance organization.

Furthermore, he found it necessary just a month ago to break up an anti-revolutionary plot in the Cuban Navy. That left his government without a Navy.

Castro is recruiting the Communist "volunteers" to train and direct all three services. Czech and Red Chinese pilots are expected to be in the first group of Communist personnel to arrive. They are being brought in to fly some of the Mig-17s that Cuba is receiving from Czechoslovakia. A group of 35 Cuban air force pilots and technicians are now in Prague for flight and ground instructions on the Mig-17s.

Whether the "volunteers" are being brought to Cuba to build up a reliable force for an attack on the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay is conjecture.

Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of Naval operations, believes that such an attack will eventually come, but not until after Castro attempts every diplomatic move in the book to force the U.S. from the base.

Coming Events — Tibet's case against Red Chinese aggression is going to be presented to the United Nations by Gayle Phond-up, the elder brother of the Dalai Lama. He is scheduled to arrive in New York next week instead of the Dalai Lama. The switch was made after Prime Minister Nehru suggested to the Dalai Lama that his appearance at the UN would be embarrassing to his government since the God-King has taken refuge in India.

Communist China's 600,000,000 people are going to be forced to tighten their belts this winter. A Central Intelligence Agency report estimates that this year's harvest will fall 100,000,000 metric tons short of last year's claimed figure — 270,000,000 metric tons. This would give Peking a margin of 30,000,000 tons above starvation level. To head off a famine, the government has ordered peasants to alternate solid meals with liquid meals.

PM Jointure Unanimously Adopts Insurance Measure

SWITZWATER—A resolution was unanimously adopted last night at the Pocono Mountain Joint School board meeting that the insurance broker be given a certain percentage of insurance carried on the new school building and those now in use by participating districts.

The resolution also added that the remaining percentage of insurance coverage on the new building (presently under construction) be apportioned to the decision of the local districts according to the percentage amount said districts contribute to the Joint District for operational costs.

The meeting was presided by jointure president Dr. Anthony Boylin.

The insurance motion was made by Mrs. Nina Grable of Barrett Township and seconded by Dr. Edward T. Horn.

New Teacher

No action was taken on selecting an insurance, firm to cover the new building at last night's meeting.

In other action, the board approved the hiring of a new teacher for fifth grade at Tobyhanna Township. The new teacher, who was hired on a permanent substitute basis, is Mrs. Edith Hill. She will begin teaching on Monday, at a pay of approximately $21 per day.

The hiring of the new teacher was necessary because of a present emergency. It was reported that the class has 45 members causing a burden on present instructions.

Clerical Help

An addition of clerical help for school office was also approved. The new clerk will receive $8 per day. The secretarial clerk was not named.

The group tabled, because of needed clarification and added information a move to treat elementary pupils' teeth with fluoride. The treatment is recommended by the state it was reported. However, only through parental consent will the treatments be made if approved.

The plan under discussion was that the pupils' teeth be treated with fluoride just once a year during the ages of four, seven and eleven. The cost to the jointure would be about $400 of which the state would reimburse the district.

If the treatments are approved, they will start next spring. A discussion as to what would become of the three elementary buildings — in Mt. Pocono Twp., Paradise and Jackson Twp., — when the new school building is completed was tabled to a later date in order to obtain more information on deeds and land.

Standing committee for group will meet Tuesday, Nov. 22 at 7:30 p.m. It was reported.

It was also stated that a building job conference (on new construction) will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 13, at 10 o'clock at the job site.

Engineers' Institute Hears Head

PROF. ALEX W. Rath, national president of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers spoke at the meeting of the Lehigh Valley chapter on Tuesday night in Allentown.

Speaking of the Institute's plans for serving the new industrial engineer he said that the growth of the industrial engineering profession over the last decade had been greater than in any other field of engineering and indicated that the Institute must progress to meet the pace.

Services to be rendered by the society will be greatly expanded in the areas of: better regional and national conferences; more ambitious publications; protection over ethical practices; licensing of engineers and professional development programs.

More emphasis will be placed on public and professional relationship endeavors, he said. In addition to serving as national president of the Institute, Prof. Rath is also active as an educator, lecturer and management consultant, and is assistant professor of management engineering at New York University.

Pocono YF Sub-Area To Be Hosted

NEWFOUNDLAND — Plans for hosting the Pocono Sub-district in its annual Harvest Festival for the benefit of the Children's Home of the Wyoming Conference were discussed during the brief business session of the Greentown-Newfoundland-South Sterling Youth Fellowship.

Meeting at the Hemlock Grove Church, the group, led by Gerald McLain, discussed the festival which will take place Sunday night at the South Sterling Methodist Church. All nine youth units in the sub-district will participate. Arthur Rigby, of Sterling; Judy Wreski, Gouldsboro; and Roger Myers, Cortez, are in charge.

Also talked over were the proposed membership cards, a recommendation for which will be made at the next regular business session of the local unit on October 23 at Hemlock Grove.

Preceding the business meeting this week, a devotional service was led by William Smith on the topic, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" Donna Bartleson played the piano for group singing.

After worship and the business meeting, the group divided up and canvassed the area for contributions to the Children's Home. They noted almost 100% cooperation among persons of all faiths whom they visited.

Hot Meal Price Increased At Pleasant Valley School

Brodheadsville—The cost per meal of the Hot Lunch Program at Pleasant Valley Joint Junior and Senior High School was increased from 25 cents to 30 cents by vote of the joint school board last night at their first official meeting in the new school.

The reason given for the raise was that student population eating in the cafeteria had increased and that the jointure cafeteria fund was too low to carry the load.

In other action, it was voted to advertise for bids for equipment for the stage and to purchase one desk for the general office.

New Typewriters

Also to be purchased will be eight additional typewriters for the commercial department. The purchase is necessary because of the increase in typing students.

A company, unidentified at this time, has been contacted to purchase or aid in the purchase of scoreboards with dual controls to be placed in the gymnasium. The company has forwarded the information to its home office for action and will notify the board as soon as it receives the data.

Henryville Youth High In Shoot

HENRYVILLE — Competing against 3,000 men in a national rifle meet at Camp Perry, Ohio, 14-year-old Clinton "Timmy" McCool, youngest among the competitors, placed in the top 50 and was rated "expert" by the United States Army.

Timmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCool, earlier this Summer was one of two winners of State competition at Indian-town Gap, earning the right to compete in the national event in Ohio. He is believed to be the youngest marksman ever to represent the State of Pennsylvania in national competition.

This week he received his "expert" badge from the government. He had entered the national event as "unclassified," and so was placed among the master or top shooters.

Two Years Experience

Timmy has only been shooting the M-1 rifles used in the match for the past two years, since before that time he just wasn't big enough to hold the weapon.

The young marksman, who is a sophomore at Pocono Township School, is now aiming high, —and is being encouraged by experts who saw his fine performance at Camp Perry. He has his sights set on the Olympics!

Leaving Dahlias Method

By George Abraham
GLADS AND DAHLIAS — Recently this department printed a letter from a gardener who has good luck leaving dahlias in the ground each winter, covering them with a thick layer of leaves. This treatment, protected tubers in below zero weather and we suggested to gardeners who dislike digging and storing the clumps, to try this method on some of their tubers.

Our readers told us that by leaving the tubers in the ground (with protection) hers flowered earlier and longer. She gets more stems per clump, but this can be remedied by cutting out a few stalks which grow too thickly, she tells us.

This week's mail brought a letter from a gladiolus grower who buries his gladiolus corns in soil outdoors. He has done this for the past 15 years. He writes: "I place the bulbs in clay flower pots which are placed in a hole 2 feet deep and lined with leaves and soil. Soil is mounded over the bulbs so that water will run off. In the spring when I dig the bulbs, they are in the pink of condition and I never lose any. No insects to bother them either. I do dust them with flowers of sulphur before burying them," he adds.

Green Thumb Note
Friends, when you write me, please be sure to check your return address. Is it complete? On some return addresses received this week, many of you included my own name instead of your own. This is one reason some mail goes unanswered. Always enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and be sure your address is complete. Never abbreviate a city or town, and never write "Local" or "city."

Good Trick
The next time you cut a tree down, have it cut as close to the ground as possible. Then place a layer of soil over the stump's surface, and then plant some sod over the soil. The sod grows on the soil and in matter of a couple years the stump will have rotted enough to settle the slight mound and you'd never know a tree had been growing in that spot. This tip was passed along to us by one of our readers.

Oak Trees
Some oaks bear heavily each year, others do not. The white oak group generally matures its acorns in one year. If you want to plant acorns from this group gather them early before they germinate while lying on the ground. These can be planted in clay pots, as we mentioned recently, and set out in spring. They'll grow a foot between now and spring, on your window sill. These will make fine shade trees.

Evergreens are quite interesting in their coning habits, also. Some spruce produce cones each year, while others will come anywhere from 2 to 8 years apart. Most pines mature their cones in the fall of the second year, and in most species the cones open on the trees shortly after ripening.

Question Box

C. D. of Portland — "I started some slips from my geraniums and they've nice roots. Please tell me how to sterilize my soil so I can plant them in an indoor window box."

You can treat soil with formaldehyde, 2 1/2 tablespoons to a cup of water, and this spread over a bushel of soil. Cover with blanket. Or you can use oven sterilization. Bake soil at moderate temperature (250 degs. F.) for one-half hour. Or you can treat with hot water. Pour boiling water over a flat of soil until soil temperature reaches 180 degs. Allow soil to dry a day or two before sowing seed or planting your rooted cuttings.

There are patented products, available at garden centers, which afford some control for damping-off disease and other organisms.

W. L. of Bangor: "Please tell me how to grow Bird of Paradise in the home."

Strelitzia regina or Bird of Paradise makes a poor house plant, although some of our readers have had good luck making it bloom indoors. Grow this item in a tub because it seldom sends forth a flower until it reaches a certain size. The plant must develop a dozen or more leaves for flowering. In winter the Bird of Paradise takes only a moderate amount of water, must have good drainage and a rich, humusy soil, plus full sunlight. Usually the flowering period is in winter and spring, although I've seen plants bloom in late summer and fall. It takes Strelitzia 3 or 4 years to bloom after they've been divided or even potted, so don't be discouraged if yours doesn't bloom right away.

Dear Abby

Learning Facts Of Life

Dear Abby: A 16-year-old boy lives next door. Last night he told me he was never told the facts of life. I was really surprised because I am 13 and my mother told me a long time ago. He said he asked his father and was told he knew all all he needed to know to get along. His 18-year-old sister also told him he knew enough. He said all he knows he heard from the kids at school. I don't feel right talking about things like that with him, but I do think he ought to know. Where can he find out?

A GIRL WHO KNOWS
Dear Girl: The boy should learn the "facts of life" from a mature, informed adult. If his father refuses to tell him, he should go to his clergyman, his coach at school or a respected relative or friend. Don't you discuss it with him.

Dear Abby: Have you ever heard of the Groom's family going into debt over their ears to put on a big wedding and reception just to impress people? When our daughter became engaged, we explained to the boy's parents that our income was limited, and said we would give the children the nicest wedding and reception we could afford. This didn't suit them, because they took over without consulting us, and are putting on a three-ring circus and are paying for everything. We'll be the laughing stock of this town for years to come. Should we refuse to attend the wedding? MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

Dear Mother: The parents of the groom could hardly plan your daughter's wedding without her knowledge and consent. If she shares your viewpoint (which, by the way, is the proper one), she should let them know. If she's all for the groom's family putting on the show and footing the bill, then go and keep the peace.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a businessman should hire relatives when he needs more help? This is a small place and most of us have been here a long time, but lately the boss has been bringing his relatives in. To them there's no "Boss"—only "Cousin Joe" and "Brother Moe." We outsiders don't appreciate a family reunion every day during business hours. We'd appreciate your comments.

Bangor Halloween Parade Arrangements Progressing

BANGOR — Progress in annual Halloween parade arrangements was reported by Wilson Jackson, chairman, at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Colonial Hotel. The fete is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m.

Registration for the event will commence next Monday at Steckel's Jewelry Store. To date, four bands have indicated their intention to participate. They are the Bangor and Pen Argyl Area Joint High School bands, Plus X High School Band and the Yellow Jackets of the local American Legion Post.

To encourage the entry of youth organizations in the area, it was decided to make cash prizes available to all youth organizations participating. Other details pertaining to the parade will be made at subsequent dates.

Parking Lot
Plans for the grand opening of the new Bangor Parking Lot were formulated by the Merchants' Division. This parking space will be dedicated in the near future and in conjunction with it there will be a special community sale of member merchants.

A feature of the sale will be the location of three treasure chests in various stores during the sale. Keys will be given free to customers during the sale and the persons unlocking the chests will be entitled to the awards inside.

In addition, there will be a grand prize. A major appliance. It will be given away at the conclusion of the sale.

Why a cut in telephone rates is NOT in the public interest

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission has announced the institution of formal proceedings to investigate the reasonableness of this company's telephone rates in Pennsylvania. While no specific reductions have been mentioned, the Commission is reported to believe that our earnings are too high because the rate of return on the value of our property is 2/10 or 3/10 of 1% more than was contemplated by the Commission when it established present telephone rates in 1956. Proper reflection of increased costs of construction, wages and borrowed money since 1956 would, of course, reduce the rate of return. We do not believe that a reduction is in the public interest.

Let's look at the record:

The cost of telephone service has increased only 81% during the past 20 years, while the cost of living has increased 110%.

Our average monthly business and residence telephone rates are lower in Pennsylvania than in our neighboring states of New York, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia. Our local revenue per telephone in Pennsylvania is the lowest in the Bell System.

Our toll rates for calls within Pennsylvania are lower than those of any other Bell System Company except one whose rates are the same as ours.

These rates have not produced excessive earnings.

Our average earnings for the past 14 years, in fact, have been below the level of earnings defined as "reasonable" by the Commission's decisions on our previous rate applications.

The telephone industry must compete with other industries for borrowed money, for people and for materials and supplies. Our costs for these necessities have risen as they have for other businesses. The critical difference is that, in the post-war years, our earnings position relative to that of other industries has become worse.

And consider this:

Our earnings must be adequate if our growth is to keep up with the growth of Pennsylvania.

To meet the state's growing communications needs we will need to spend over a half billion dollars in the next five years. Most of this money must come from outside sources. It will, too ... if our earnings are what they should be.

Make no mistake about one thing:

Good earnings are important not only to us but also to the economy of Pennsylvania and its citizens.

Our yearly purchases from some 15,000 Pennsylvania firms and citizens total more than $98 million. An additional $175 million in annual payroll finds its way into the state's business communities through purchases by our employees and their families.

This is the equivalent of 273 separate businesses, each paying out a million dollars a year for wages and supplies.

Our earnings must be adequate if we are to maintain the quality of service you have every right to demand and the continual improvements you have every right to expect.

The high quality of our service and its low cost are the result of constant effort by our entire organization. When our efforts are penalized by cutting earnings that result from efficient operation, the incentive to give service which is high in quality and low in cost is undermined.

Our earnings are as big a part of our incentive as your earnings are of yours.

Incentive can work wonders for any business. It's worked wonders for us. By hard work, by aggressive selling and by bringing into the business the most up-to-date technical improvements to keep costs down, we've managed to inch our way ahead despite mounting costs up and down the line.

Where does incentive come from if we are arbitrarily penalized for efficiency?

Our views are shared by members of many regulatory bodies.

The chairman of one state's utility commission, for example, said in a recent speech:

"A regulatory body which cuts rates to the bare minimum makes the utilities that much less attractive to the investor and imposes a burden on them in competing for investment funds, with the result that they must pay constantly more for their capital ...

"Since the increased cost of capital must ultimately be paid for by the customer, such a shortsighted regulatory policy will ultimately hurt the customer not only in respect to the quality of service but to the long-range cost he will have to pay ...

"The public can reap a shortsighted and immediate gain with rock bottom utility rates, but the end result would be the stifling of progress and inadequate service, all leading to the road of insolvency, public discontent, and eventual public demand of government ownership. Therefore, we feel that regulation, after establishing the fair value of the used and useful property of the utility, must allow a rate which will encourage investment and in turn ever-improving utility service."

We submit these facts in the public interest.

day which is content with its hourly wage, doesn't worry about coffee breaks, and has little difficulty in inter-personal relationships.

This satisfied segment of the working population is made up of the teen-age baby sitters, on duty an average of one assignment a week.

Sixty-four per cent of the 993 young people polled in this week's survey are baby sitters.
They average between 50 and 75 cents an hour, often get bonuses for after-midnight sitting and household chores, and are quite able to control their charges — not by punishment
but by play.

Moreover, the sitters feel their pay is fair, and that both parents and children try hard to make the sitter feel happy in his work.

In fact, some of them feel they don't really earn their pay.
Says Victor Komisar, 17, of Valley Stream, L. I., "Being paid three or four dollars for doing nothing is nice work."

Bonnie Gustafson, 14, of Hingham, Mass., reports she
"just sits and eats and gets paid for it." And Becky D. Quinn, 16, of Miami, Fla., lists the joys of sitting as "money, icebox, TV and phone privileges."

Some Are Natural
Money is the motivating factor for the teen-agers who sit regularly, but experience and the pleasure of being with children ranks high. Comments
Sheila Syring, 17, of Eugene, Ore., "I usually care for one angelic boy of one family and he is more fun than work."

Even those whose duties seem more onerous express satisfaction. "All I have to do is to feed and watch the children," is the casual remark of Marcia Burk-ert, 16, of Indianapolis, and her philosophical girl comments,
"After all the baby sitter is just a substitute and the real mother gets no money for a full-time job."

From the comments on the poll, it's evident that some sitters are natural-born psychologists. An understanding sitter from Greenville, N. C., has no trouble controlling the children because "when I explain to them what they did wrong, they mind." Sahra Dawes, 18, of Coral Gables, Fla., thinks
"if children are treated like adults, they act as such." And many say they enjoy playing games and reading to the children.

A minority who find it hard to handle children complain of their temper tantrums, their disobedience and the difficulties encountered in getting them to bed on time. Their own parents must chuckle about this!
While most sitters enjoy a good working relationship with the parents who hire them, there is a minor faction that has a few gripes. Staying out beyond the time specified is a source of concern. "I have to get some rest," explains Priscilla Estes, 18, of Miami, and a 15-year-old youngster from Baton Rouge, La., says, "I am most annoyed when they get home late."

Some More Gripes
Other complaints range from leaving inadequate instructions and no information as to the parents' whereabouts, to beefs about those detail-minded parents who spell out everything

fornia, his new base after

Weather Forecast For Next 5 Days

EXTENDED forecasts for Oct.
13 through Oct. 17:

Eastern Pennsylvania, Southeastern New York and New Jersey
—Temperatures are expected to average near or slightly above normal. A warming trend is expected to begin about Friday, turning cooler on Monday. Rainfall probably falling during the weekend should total between one tenth and four tenths inch.

Yugo Movie

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—
Soviet director-actor Sergei Bondareuk plans to make a film in Yugoslavia next year of the Yugoslav novel "Divisions" by Dobrica Cosic. The theme is the suffering of peasants in a Serbian village in World War II.

without leaving any decision to the sitter's judgment.

Bill Wilson, 17, of Baton Rouge, La., says, "The parents give me orders as though I were an idiot. The mother tells me not to do some things and to do others which I would do anyway."

But at the other extreme is Pat Shank, 16, of Medina, O., who comments, "They don't explain how to run appliances. I had to get the child out of bed once, to show me how to run the dishwasher."

Last-minute cancellations are a source of genuine grievance.
"I sit steadily for one woman, and although I am supposed to reserve Saturday nights, she will not notify me in advance."

Most of the sitters polled have a steady once-a-week date.

Others work as much as three times a week, or as little as once a month. Some say they would like to sit and earn the extra money, but dates and school work, plus their responsibility in taking care of younger members of the family, curtail their sitting schedule.

Weekends see the biggest demand for sitters, though some, like Marie Hendrix, 17, of Eugene, Ore., sit "after school and all day weekends."

If their charges are asleep, most watch TV, study or read —or do all three. They're willing to abide by the parents' instructions on the ticklish matter of entertaining a friend.
Marsha Skorstad, 15, of West
Allis, Wis., however, is annoyed when the parents depart saying, "Remember! No boys." But

Katherine Field, 18, of Green's Farms, Conn., says if the parents approve, "I entertain a friend."

Spending Wages No Problem

A pleasant rapport between employer and employee seems to prevail in the majority of cases. When asked if parents try to make themselves popular with their sitters, 44 per cent say yes. "The father of one of my families helps me with my chemistry," says Becky Doyle-Quinn, 16, of Miami, Fla. Others take a keen interest in their sitters' activities and talk to them about their school and other interests.

The children, too, seem to want to be in the sitters' good graces. Forty-six percent of the sitters said the youngsters try to make themselves popular.

... and problems

"Little boys write me love letters," says Karen Erb, 16, of Eugene, Ore.

The girls spend the fruits of their labors on clothes, cosmetics, records, gifts, entertainment, and school supplies. The boys use theirs for hobbies, dates and pocket money. A percentage thrifflily banks the earnings for their education.

"the Store that Satisfied Customers Built..."

Just Between Us —

It's mighty slippery up here on top of Curt Prins' Guess-perit poll, but the view is fine: the disgruntled faces of co-workers who still can't figure out how come. Well, I'd better enjoy it while I can because, barring miracles like Stroudsburg beating Bangor and Penn State taking Syracuse, I'm going to come sliding down with undignified haste.

Which will probably be just as well. In the first flush of pride, I let them talk me into making the coffee which is not one of my favorite chores since it involves washing the pot from the night before. Our coffee, like printer's ink, is not something that washes off easily.

There are other indelible things, like memories of past joys and sorrows that in retrospect seem to have been so much more intense than the somehow shallow emotions of today. It's a pallid sort of pleasure when you win: football pools, crossword puzzles, World Series pools; and pretty, petty disappointment when you lose.

But it does pass the time—and I suppose that in the past those big important emotions were also compounded of little things: love that found expression in a glance of shared amusement across a crowded room; fear that rose from a baby's croupy cough in the middle of the night.

Anyway, this is the compromise that I have with life: to take what the moment offers, and savor it to the full, letting the past and the future take care of themselves. If it doesn't always work, nobody knows but me.

Youth Service Set For Friday

Elder John N. Morgan, regional youth leader for the East Pennsylvania Conference of Seventh-day Adventists will be the guest speaker at the local youth service Friday at 7:45.

Morgan, who will come from Reading, Pa. headquarters will speak on the subject, "Behold the Man," giving a portrayal of the sacrifice God made when He gave His Son to save the life of His creation, mankind.

Pastor Morgan is expected to have a tape recording of the North American Youth Congress, recently held in Atlantic City, New Jersey where thousands of Adventist youth met to affirm their faith in the Holy Scriptures.

All are welcome to attend.

PTA To Buy Machine To Speed Reading

The Clearview Parent-Teachers Assn. at their first meeting of the year voted to raise money to purchase a controlled reading machine and film strips for it which can be used in remedial reading to help slow readers.

To raise funds they set up three projects for the year: school pictures of individual children; a used book sale; and a rummage and white elephant sale.

Ralph Knauf welcomed the parents and introduced the teachers. In order to learn the teachers better, a "guess who" feature will be held each month when facts about two teachers will be given and members will be asked to identify the teachers.

Refreshments were provided after the meeting by mothers of Mrs. Frank Grimm's first grade with Mrs. Harriet DeRosa, Mrs. Betty Shiffer, Mrs. Doris Butz, and Mrs. Lois Sheeley serving.

Mrs. Albertson Is Cited At Conference

Georgia Albertson, a member of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Aux., was honored at the state convention for her work in Civil Defense, it was reported to the local auxiliary at their meeting this week.

Mrs. Francis Ransberger made the report of the conference. The members voted a donation to the National Home Christmas fund.

Turley-Costella Wedding Reception At West End

Bangor — Joanne Marie Costella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Costella of Bangor RD 3 was married to Edward Turley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Turley of Nanticoke on October 8 at 1:30 p.m. in the First United Evangelical Church, Bangor.

A reception followed at the West End Firehall, Brodheads-ville.

Rev. C. B. Starr performed the ceremony with Cecil Honey as organist and Donald Shook as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of tulle and Chantilly lace over satin with a fingertip veil of silk illusion attached to a crown of sequins and pearls. The gown featured a sabrina neckline embroidered with pearls and sequins and a bell-shaped skirt with a lace insert and a deep tulle flounce. Her bouquet was of orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Richard Standick, of 440 East Goep St., Bethlehem, was matron of honor. She wore a long gown of royal blue taffeta with a copen cummerbund and a matching Dior bow headpiece. She carried a basket of light blue pompons.

Richard Standick served as best man and ushers were Carl Kresge Jr., brother of the bride-groom, of Trailwood, Wilkes-Barre, and William Altomero of 40 Lehigh Ave., Wind Gap.

The bride, a graduate of Pen Argyl High School, before her marriage was employed in the office of the Bangor Gas Co.

Mr. Turley, a graduate of Nanticoke High School and Wilkes-Barre Business School, is employed in the office of Canada Dry Bottling Co., Allentown.

After a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple will reside in Bethlehem.

Band Mothers Push Candy, Christmas Sale

The sale of Christmas gifts and novelties will be held December 1 next to the Grand Theater. Mrs. Z. J. Viechnicki and Mrs. Marvin Burrus, co-chairmen, asked members to bring articles for the sale to the November meeting.

The Band Mothers are helping to finance the band trip to Philadelphia today when the band will play for the Convention of School Supervisors and Directors at Convention Hall.

Look Who Needs Some 'Babying'

One of the first faces which generations of new-born babies in Monroe County have seen is now missing from the General Hospital. Mrs. E. Chester Kemp, who has served in the nursery at the hospital for a period covering more than 40 years, is now recuperating from a heart attack at her home, 329 East Brown St., East Stroudsburg.

With time out for her own babies, Mrs. Kemp has still greeted more new babies, reassured more new mothers, and watched the through-the-window antics of more new fathers than any other person in Monroe County.

During her five weeks of hospitalization following her attack, she was still part of the hospital scene although necessarily a passive one. Co-workers report that since she's gone home that "the hospital just doesn't seem the same."

And quite a change for the active little body who "babied" thousands of babies it must be to need some "babying" herself.

No Pep Pills Involved

Richardson Says Power Hitting Was "Just Luck"

By TED SMITHS
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Richardson, the slugging little second baseman of the New York Yankees, thinks all his World Series acclaim is the result of "just luck."

"Naturally I didn't go into the Series thinking about runs batted in records, not when I had only had 26 all seasons," he grinned, "and I haven't been taking pep pills."

Richardson has now set an all time World Series record of 12 runs batted in, eclipsing the former record of 10 set by Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees in seven games in 1956 and tied by Ted Kluszewski of the Chicago White Sox last year in the six-game series with Los Angeles.

Shares Spotlight
Richardson shared the center of attraction in the Yankee dressing room with Whitey Ford, the clutch pitcher of the Yankees, whose second shutout over the Pirates, 12-0, brought New York all even again.

"You did a real good job," shouted Manager Casey Stengel. "I wasn't as strong as I was in the other game (a 10-0, four-hit shutout in the third game) and I felt I was weakening in the fifth but that doubleplay gave me a lift."

Ford said he threw a lot of sliders and not so much fast stuff Wednesday.

Big Disappointment Says Friend After Losing 2nd Try

By GIB STALEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — "This has to be the biggest disappointment of my life — I just can't figure what has happened to me."

That was pitcher Bob Friend talking in the Pittsburgh dressing room Wednesday as the Pirates quietly discussed the 12-0 shutout from the New York Yankees that squared the Series at three games apiece.

Friend, who retired the first three Yankee batters easily, was knocked from the box in the 5-run third inning. He had given up a run in the second inning but said he felt fine when the third inning started.

Sorry For Howard
Friend said he was sorry that he had hit two Yankee batters with his pitches, "especially for Elston Howard."

Howard was lost for the Series when a pitch hit his right hand in the second inning, breaking a bone.

Manager Danny Murtaugh wasn't the smiling Irishman Wednesday. The Pirate manager walked into his dressing room to meet newsmen just as Yankee Manager Casey Stengel was leaving. Stengel grabbed Murtaugh's hand and said:

"Well, tomorrow will be it and you are a very nice gentleman whether you win, lose or draw."

Murtaugh muttered a quiet "thank you".

Murtaugh said Friend "had good stuff all the time but they were hitting him. Our club wasn't tight—the Yankees were hitting, that's all," he said.

ESSC Booters Win First; Turn Back Montclair 1-0

EAST STROUDSBURG State College spotted Montclair a 1-0 lead then fought back for a 3-1 soccer win Wednesday at Montclair.

It was the first win for the Warriors, who dropped their opener to Ithaca 3-2 and were tied by Brockport 1-1.

Montclair took a 1-0 advantage on a goal by Tony Slavago midway through the first period. The Warriors tied the score near the end of the period on substitute Allan Oberholtzer's boot.

Neither team scored in the second period but East Stroudsburg hit the nets for two goals in the third period. The first was by Barry Wray to send the Warriors in front and Dick Graham's boot late in the frame iced the win.

Keep Pressure On

The Warriors kept the ball in Montclair territory through most of the final half and never let the Jersey club launch a scoring attack.

East Stroudsburg coach John Eller singled out center forward Paul Grube for praise after the game.

"He turned in another good game for us," said Eller. "He was aggressive and passed well." Grube set up one of the Warriors goals.

Zolt Varkony's goal gave East Stroudsburg a 1-0 win in a junior varsity game.

Grimsley Picks Orange

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—They say complacency has set in at Syracuse and Mississippi and the two powers are ripe for plucking. But these two teams still have the horses—and races go to the swift.

So we spun the heady wine of upsets and pick the Orangemen and Ole Miss to win their tough assignments of the week. Last week's score: 53-12 for 760.

Mississippi 24, Tulane 12: The nation's No. 1 team has too much raw speed for the Greenies.

Syracuse 14, Penn State 8: Orangemen are determined to win back their No. 1 rating.

UCLA 20, Washington 14: Huskies aren't the same team which won in the Rose Bowl.

Tennessee 7, Alabama 0: Sounds of bones cracking will be heard throughout the Tennessee Valley.

Ohio State 18, Purdue 7: Buckeyes are as imaginative and subtle as a sledge hammer blow in the face.

Texas 24, Arkansas 14: Longhorns still riding the wave of their Oklahoma victory.

Pittsburgh 28, West Virginia 7: Panthers are much too powerful in this traditional head-knocker.

Michigan State 19, Notre Dame 6: Fighting Irish are still dizzy from hitting the canvas.

Navy 21, Air Force 7: Falcons don't have a home run hitter to match Navy's Joe Bellino.

Army 14, Nebraska 0: Cadets bound back from Penn State defeat.

In the ladies' division, Mrs. M. Pierson defeated Mrs. G. Nighan, 3 & 2 for the championship. Mrs. M. L. Breslin defeated Mrs. M. Travisano 2 & 1 in the first flight.

Joe Alfano dropped Jim Beatty 4 and 3 to win the first flight and Frank Cascaro defeated Jim Broughal 1-up in 19 holes for the second flight title.

Full House To Watch ESSC Tilt

EAST STROUDSBURG State College football team will face a "full house" when it plays at Mansfield Saturday afternoon.

The largest crowd ever to sit in a Mansfield homecoming game is expected and the local hotel in Mansfield is booked so solidly that there is no room for the East Stroudsburg players.

Mansfield has a 2-1 mark losing to Shippensburg 14-13 and beating Cheyney and Brockport. But Warrior coach Jack Gregory is afraid that Mansfield is waiting for a shot at his team.

"They have only been scored on twice," says Gregory and Shippensburg had to come from behind to beat them. They have good pass receivers and one end that has got a touchdown pass in every game.

Big Parade
The school's biggest homecoming parade will kick off the homecoming weekend. Some 20 floats will parade through downtown Mansfield in the morning.

East Stroudsburg, which has limited four opponents to less than 60 yards on the ground per game, while compiling a 2-2 mark, will face the Mountaineers at almost full strength.

Fullback Joe Heverin twisted an ankle in the Shippensburg game last Saturday and freshman halfback Tony Barkman, the club's fastest back, broke a finger. Both are expected to be ready for full time service, however.

Cage Refs Meet
THE RULES interpretation meeting of the District 11 PIAA basketball officials will be held Monday at Palmerton High School at 7 p.m.

Gun Club Meets
POCONO Paradise Gun Club will hold its annual meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the Pocono Twp. Volunteer Fire Dept., Tannersville. Officers will be elected.

Bonder Critical Of Millersville Officiating

HIS TEAM WON 42-0, so it wasn't sour grapes but Jim Bonder, West Chester State College football coach was unhappy over the officiating Saturday, when his Rams blanked Millersville.

"The first four minutes of the game were officiated about as poorly as I've seen," Bonder said in a phone interview. "But when we broke the game wide open there was nothing the officials could do to help Millersville."

Bonder also said that he plans to write a letter to the president of the State College Conference (SCC) to ask for a uniform set-up in assigning officials.

West Chester is one of the few schools in the SCC that does not assign officials directly. The Rams belong to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, (ESAC) which handles all officials' assignments.

This eliminates the charge that such and such a school is using "homers" or that a certain athletic director is using the same officials all the time.

Millersville probably has the biggest reputation for getting special treatment from the officials. Several of the "C" coaches feel they have to beat 15 men when they Millersville.

Stroudsburg lost at Millersville 6-0 in the opener this year and had more than 100 yards in penalties stepped off against it and one touchdown called back.

"I know that everyone of the East Stroudsburg players feels in his heart," said Bonder "that they got rooked at Millersville."

East Stroudsburg Guilty Also
But while East Stroudsburg can feel sorry for itself about the Millersville treatment it had better move out of its glass house, because other coaches are not happy about the officiating at East Stroudsburg.

"The officiating at Millersville was bad," said Bonder, "but we get the same thing at East Stroudsburg."

West Chester athletic director Bob Reese, an East Stroudsburg graduate, echoed Bonder's feelings.

The cure for poor officiating is painless and inexpensive. For $100 a college can join the ECAC and forget about assigning officials.

The ECAC officials are assigned on the basis of their abilities, not who is a friend of the assignor. Poor officials or homers, don't last in the ECAC.

If a coach is dissatisfied over the treatment he got from an ECAC official, he cannot criticize the home school for hiring "homers."

Officials Aren't Only Benefit
But official assignments aren't the only benefits received from the ECAC.

Each week the conference selects an all-star team based on performances of member school's players. The team is widely publicized which gives the players something to shoot for.

West Chester's Joe Iacone was named to the team the second week of the season, along with Navy's Joe Bellino. Ed Becker most surely would have been named to the team for his performance in the Millersville game and Dick Wolslayer would have earned a spot for his West Chester play but East Stroudsburg has not kicked in its $100.

The ECAC operates during the full year, which means that basketball, soccer, wrestling, baseball, track and all the other intercollegiate sports benefits.

Athletic Programs Should Be Ridiculed Free
East Stroudsburg could still stay in the Pennsylvania State College Conference and also be in the ECAC. ECAC membership would enable the Warriors to schedule some of the bigger name schools and put some money into the sagging athletic fund.

While the prime goal of any college or university is not to push athletics above everything else, schools that do take part in intercollegiate sports, should make every attempt to produce a program that is free from ridicule.

Officiating in the State College Conference has been under fire in the past and the accusations will probably fly freely when the group holds its annual meeting in Harrisburg this winter.

East Stroudsburg could set an example for other member schools by joining the ECAC and then attending the meeting with this thought:

"We are one school that did something to improve our officiating."

Record To Begin New Pin Listing

THE Daily Record will begin a new feature on its Tuesday bowling page, October 18.

The page will contain a listing of the top 10 individual averages for the Pocono area leagues, as well as the five high individual singles and matches.

The five top team singles and matches will also be listed in the survey.

There will be separate listings for men and women's leagues.

League secretaries are asked to submit the following information either by postcard or letter to the Sports Desk, Daily Record not later than Friday of each week: Ten highest individual averages; five individual high singles; five team high singles; five team high matches.

The lists are to be for the whole season not for each week, so that an individual who rolls a 685 series in the first week of the league would still be on the top the fifth week if no one has bettered his score.

Chicago To Install Lights

CHICAGO (AP)—One of these years lights will be installed at Wrigley Field, Chicago Cub owner P. K. Wrigley said Wednesday, but they will not be used for night baseball.

"As soon as the Cubs can afford it—and that won't be until the Cubs are a contender—we'll install lights strictly in self-defense—to assure completion of our day games," said Wrigley.

The Cubs this year wound up seventh in the National League.

"They absolutely won't be used for night baseball — at least as long as Wrigley Field neighborhood continues to be residential."

Braves Release Catcher Lopata

MILWAUKEE (AP) — General manager John McHale of the Milwaukee Braves announced Wednesday the unconditional release of catcher Stan Lopata.

The 35-year old receiver, obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies at the close of the 1958 season, appeared in 35 games with the Braves in 1959. He spent most of the 1960 season with Milwaukee's American Association farm club at Louisville.

Coach Mickey Vernon of the Pittsburgh Pirates was put on the active playing list for the month of September and retired as a player when the season ended. He was listed as coach for the World Series.

Clark and Sports Editor Curt Prins.

Clark, who led the board of guessers for two weeks, dropped to third spot with a .651 mark. Tony Cesare tabbed 16 winners to hold onto fourth position and Managing Editor Jack Hill had 15 winning teams to lead the second division.

Big Jumps

Prins and Westbrook made the biggest jumps. Mrs. Westbrook was in third place last week and Prins jumped from the cellar to sixth place this week.

The consensus pulled from a .644 percentage to a .649 mark with 12 winners and six losers and five even selections. It also tabbed three of the four local games correctly, rating the Bangor-Wilson Boro game won by Bangor, as a toss-up.

The upsets will have to hold forth this week to keep Mrs.

Westbrook in first place. She has picked Stroud Union over Bangor, Penn State over Syracuse, California over Southern Cal and Texas A&M over TCU.

Local Picks

The consensus strings along with unbeaten Bangor, once beaten East Stroudsburg, twice beaten East Stroudsburg State and Pen Argy on the local scene.

Syracuse gets the nod over Penn State but three of the Guess-Perts, two of them, Allen and Hill State alumni, pick the Nittany Lions.

Almost everyone on the eight-member panel has picked one upset special.

Mrs. Westbrook tabs Stroud Union, Allen and Hill go with Tennessee over Alabama, Clark stayed with the favorites, Prins, selected Oklahoma over Kansas, MacLeod leans toward Jim Thorpe and Shafer feels Nebraska will take Army.

Samsel Wins Grid Pick On Recount

GEORGE W. Samsel, 19 South 6th Street, Stroudsburg, is the official winner of The Daily Record football contest for the week ending October 8th, and will receive first prize money for correctly naming 20 out of 23 victorious teams.

Paul S. Goucher, who was previously named as the first prize winner, will receive second prize money.

A group of entries that were early removed from the ballot box for delivery to the contest judges was inadvertently mislaid. The error was not discovered until after publication of the wrong winners list in yesterday's paper.

Only members of the 1947 Yankees still playing in the majors are catchers Yogi Berra and Sherm Lollar.

Helped Snap Losing Streak

McKeever AP Lineman Of Week; Collins Second

By TED MEIER

SOUTHERN California ended a 5 game football losing streak last week. For his part, Marlin McKeever, Trojan end, was named Wednesday as the lineman of the week by The Associated Press.

Behind 10-3, the favored Georgia Bulldogs drove to the Southern Cal 12 in the closing minutes and it seemed they might turn defeat into victory.

Good Punter

But the 230-pound McKeever took over at this point. On third down he threw Georgia halfback Fred Brown for a 4 yard loss. On the next play he smeared Francis Tarkenton, back to pass, for a 19-yard loss and the Trojans took over on downs to stifle Georgia's last threat.

In addition, McKeever had a respectable average of 38 yards on four punts.

High up in the weekly poll by sportswriters and Broadcasters was another end—Gary Collins of Maryland. He was hailed as the best defensive and offensive lineman on the field against North Carolina State and was named the lineman of the week in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

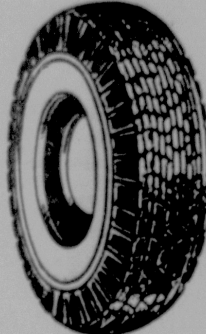

Collins got off a 43-yard punt just six inches from the goal line, then broke through and blocked a kick for a touchdown that put Maryland ahead 10-7. Maryland lost, 13-10, however.

The money-winning record for a professional golfer is held by Ted Kroll, who won $72,835 in 1956.

Casey Ignores Writer's Plea

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel, despite an unprecedented petition signed by 5 New York writers asking him to stay, hinted broadly Wednesday that he will resign as manager of the Yankees after the World Series.

Stengel's retirement has been rumored for some time.

The 70-year-old baseball genius, expounding in the Yankee clubhouse about the Yankees' 12-0 victory over Pittsburgh that squared the World Series at three triumphs each, took time out to thank the writers.

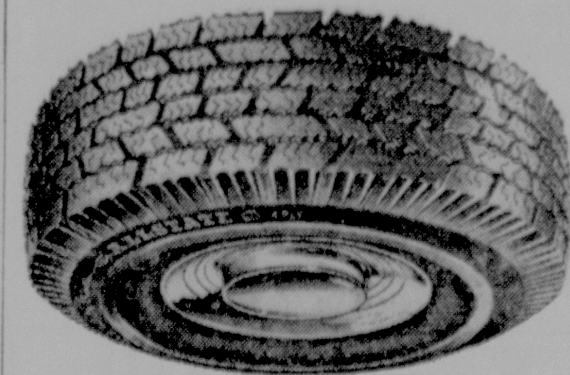

"It was wonderful of them writers," he said just before ducking under a cold shower. "But I've been here 12 years and when a feller stays so long in one place, he gets a lot of people mad at him and he gets mad at a lot of people when they blame him for blowing the tight games."

Pitch Breaks Howard's Finger

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Catcher Elston Howard of the New York Yankees suffered a broken small finger on his right hand Wednesday when he was hit by a pitch in the second inning of the sixth World Series game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Starter Bob Friend hit Howard with the pitch. Howard was taken to a hospital for treatment.

Mutual Funds Described

By William A. Doyle

Q. Can you explain why the word "mutual" is used to describe mutual funds? As I see it, there is nothing mutual about them. They are corporations. The stockholders appoint the management to run the fund and manage the investments. In any event, they are not mutual in the sense that most savings and loan associations, some banks and insurance companies are mutual.

A. It's only fair to point out to all readers that this letter came on an insurance agent's stationery. Isn't it about time insurance people and securities people stopped throwing rocks at one another?

Surely, no family should ever buy shares of a mutual fund until it is well covered by insurance. But that's no excuse for the constant battling between many insurance companies and mutual funds.

"Mutual fund" is simply a popular and generally accepted name for "open-end investment company."

Not all mutual funds are corporations. Some are trusts. But, in either case, they are about as mutual as anything can be.

Stockholders of each mutual fund elect directors of the fund. Stockholders vote on who will handle the investment advisory contract for the fund and any changes in that contract. They do have a say in affairs of the fund, because they are given the opportunity to vote. They receive proxies to vote at every annual meeting and any special meeting that might be called.

These things are all spelled out by the Investment Company

Act of 1940 and various rulings of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Mutual fund stockholders actually have a great deal more "mutual" power than depositors in mutual savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks and policyholders in mutual insurance companies.

Q. Reading the prospectus of a mutual fund, I notice it states that the fund and its distributor may discontinue redemption of share at any time. Is this the policy of all mutual funds?

A. This is a technical situation. The important thing to remember is that it is the redemption feature that makes a mutual fund an open-end investment company.

Under normal circumstances, a shareholder who wants cash for his mutual fund shares turns in his shares and receives the redemption price. The redemption price, in the case of most funds, is the net asset value the shares are backed up by. Some funds do have a small redemption fee of about one percent.

And some funds do have the right to redeem "in kind." That means that, instead of cash, the shareholders who redeem their shares might be given some of the securities the fund holds as investments. This would also be stated in the prospectus.

The Investment Company Act of 1940 provides that payment for shares tendered for redemption must be made within seven days—except during "periods when the New York Stock Exchange is closed, trading is restricted or emergency conditions exist."

The suspension of redemptions (such as you are evidently worried about) hasn't happened as yet. It's doubtful that it ever will. Mutual funds have a good record of making prompt redemptions. But each fund must mention that remote possibility in its prospectus.
